

“One of the year’s most anticipated coffee and dessert shops has opened in the Concord area and it’s a timeless masterpiece.”

It was a long time in the making, but the gorgeous and timeless coffee, ice cream, dessert and wine bar has finally opened in Concord and is inviting all of the Metro area to come celebrate. The Percantile and Creamery is a classy 1920’s themed destination shop complete with a vintage model T and a “family room” for folks of all ages to enjoy. The owner, Sean Colas, spent years dreaming up a spot that would transport his customers back to an elegant and carefree era, while serving up the most specialty, handcrafted treats the current times can provide. They serve one-of-a-kind craft lattes made with the finest locally roasted beans and hints of the 1920’s with twists of fresh fruits and drops of local raw honey. Customers can expect to try things like The Bee’s Knees (Honey and Cinnamon) and The Berries (White Chocolate and Raspberry). The Percantile and Creamery also serves slow churned handmade ice creams and tops them with warm, house-baked brownies, cookies and other decadent desserts. But this exquisite shop is gaining fame for their gargantuan ice cream sundae, the “Phonus Bolognus”, that is 15 scoops of ice cream, brownies, cookies, gourmet chocolates truffles, sauces and whipped cream.

The Percantile and Creamery will be celebrating their Grand Opening on November 2 and all of the community is invited to attend this free extravaganza. There will be Music, Hors d’oeuvres, raffle prizes, and more. And if you wear your 1920’s attire, you’ll receive a free Specialty Craft Latte and a free Raffle ticket!
